The prison provides full services that provide superior care and management of more than 26,000 inmates a year. There are currently two locations called Downtown and Euclid. The downtown prison, which is the primary center, is located halfway through a city block in downtown Cleveland on Third W street and W Lakeside. This includes two high-rise buildings (the first prison and the second prison) that provide more than a million square feet of space. The facility houses all levels of security situations, from maximum security to weekends. In 2015, the average prisoner stay was 30 days, approximately 10 days lower than in 2014, with an average daily population of 2,168. The CCCC runs a full kitchen service, medical clinic and pharmacy and provides community service planning, all managed by staff of more than 700 employees. The CCCC's partnership with MetroHealth Care has increased the quality and level of services provided to prisoners. Service lines, such as imaging, dentistry, and health, were increased to complement MetroHealth's already robust service portfolio and expand capabilities at home. The CCCC is managed by a dedicated executive employee consisting of regional director of reform, two associate supervisors, facility services manager, director of mental health services, and director of health care services. The day-to-day operation is managed by sergeants overseeing corporals and complementing about 550 corrections officers. Together, this team, along with a full time Staff who include doctors, RN's, LPN, MTA, mental and dental services, are dedicated to maintaining a safe centre for our housewives criminals.
